

The Liechtenstein financial centre

Thinking in generations

The Liechtenstein financial centre offers its clients comprehensive market access to the EU and Switzerland and guarantees political and economic stability. With its long-standing experience and wide range of services, it combines solutions for the preservation of wealth over generations with fast and innovative regulatory solutions at the cutting edge of technological and other financial developments. Liechtenstein is a constitutional hereditary monarchy based on democratic and parliamentary principles that is closely aligned with the European system of values and law and also enjoys a high reputation for its high political and economic stability.

Market access

Liechtenstein has been a member of the European Economic Area (EEA) since 1995. This means it offers unrestricted market access to 31 states and around 500 million people in Europe. The customs and currency union with Switzerland also secures access to the neighbouring state.

Market operators

- 12 banks
- 3 e-money institutions
- 20 pension schemes and funds
- 33 insurance companies
- 98 asset managers
- 139 fiduciaries
- 556 single funds and sub-funds
- 1,353 common-benefit foundations

Share of the economy as a whole

The Liechtenstein financial sector is highly diversified and maintains strong international networks. Contrary to popular belief, however, it is “only” the third largest economic sector in the Liechtenstein economy after industry and general services.

Quality, stability and a long-term mindset

The Liechtenstein financial centre is closely aligned with the European system of values and law, offers its clients comprehensive market access to the EU as well as to Switzerland, and guarantees political and economic stability. With its long-standing experience and broad range of services, it stands for first-class, long-term wealth solutions and the preservation of assets over generations.

Sustainability

There is an increasing global focus on sustainability and sustainable investments. Sustainability has always been an important concern for Liechtenstein and its financial centre and, along with stability and quality, is one of the three cornerstones of its strategy for the future.

The establishment of transparency regarding the extent to which investment products fulfil sustainability criteria will become standard in the medium term. As a clear distinguishing criterion, responsible, sustainable action is to be established as a component of the culture in the Liechtenstein financial centre through the government's Financial Centre Strategy of February 2019.

In the case of Liechtenstein banks, for example, the business models focus on the long term and all banks distance themselves from short-term profit-seeking. No bank is or has been active in investment banking. This is demonstrated not just by the wide-ranging commitment exercised by banks through their in-house common-benefit foundations, the membership or involvement of all three big banks in the Swiss and Liechtenstein Climate Foundations, the various energy efficiency measures through to climate neutrality, or exacting corporate governance standards. It is also firmly anchored in the core business of the banks. For example, since 2004 Liechtensteinische Landesbank has provided a model with an ecological and renovation mortgage. Its reporting on sustainability topics moreover applies the standards of the globally recognised Global Reporting Initiative (GRI). As the largest and most international banking group, LGT has been one of the pioneers for years and is involved in sustainability at many levels, including LGT Venture Philanthropy and its subsidiary LGT Lightstone active in the field of impact investing.

Examples of pioneering digital business models

“Blockchain Act”

The Liechtenstein Token and Trusted Technology Service Providers Act (TVTG) came into force at the beginning of 2020. The TVTG entrusts the FMA with the registration and event-driven supervision of service providers that provide services on systems such as blockchain, thus creating legal certainty for many current and future business models.

Regulatory Laboratory

Innovative business models often do not fit into classic regulatory categories. For this reason, the Liechtenstein Financial Market Authority has set up a team of experts for innovative business models in the form of the “Regulatory Laboratory”. This gives interested companies direct access to a team of experts for an efficient and expeditious approval process.

Liechtenstein Venture Cooperative

By founding a Liechtenstein Venture Cooperative, a special form of cooperative, innovators bring their idea directly into a dedicated legal form, thus preparing the foundations for facilitated cooperation with other know-how providers and capital lenders. The LVC provides a legal basis for bringing together professional services, contributions in-kind as well as capital contributions from various parties (natural persons and legal entities) that are required to develop an innovation, in the form of an investment.
