

Liechtenstein Insurance Brokers Association (LIBA)

Independent assistance in the search for the optimum insurance solution may be equally valuable to both companies and private individuals.

Insurance brokers are independent experts who advise in the customer's best interests.

Serving as the link between clients and insurance companies, the insurance broker can contribute to finding an innovative solution in the insurance industry.

This enables clients to independently review and evaluate a wide variety of insurance products within and outside their country, and to create flexible solutions oriented at the client's individual needs.

Insurance brokers have comprehensive functions in consulting and client care, from closing the transaction, through providing assistance during the term of the contract, to the dissolution of the business relationship, including the processing of claims and special requests.

Insurance brokers need to be registered and are subject to supervision by the Liechtenstein Financial Market Authority (FMA).

At the end of 2024, 49 insurance brokers were registered with the FMA.
